

Problem Statement

Current Situation

- Students are scattered across LinkedIn, Indeed, PNet, and other sites searching for WIL placements.
- Institutions only verify and track placements after students find them, leaving students unsupported during the most critical stage.
- Companies recruit early, often before students have transcripts or WIL letters, causing many to miss cycles and delay graduation.
- The result: wasted time, missed opportunities, graduation delays, and risk of scams or non-compliant placements.

Core Problem

There is no centralized, trusted platform where only verified WIL students and companies offering WIL opportunities can connect under one roof.

Student Perspective

- Pain: Scattered applications, missed recruitment cycles, risk of scams, graduation delays.
- Need: A trusted hub where eligibility is verified by institutions and opportunities are legitimate.
- Benefit: One place to apply, less wasted time, clear graduation pathway.

Company Perspective

- Pain: Admin overload, difficulty verifying student eligibility, mismatched skills, risk of non-compliance.
- Need: Easy access to vetted candidates, verified by institutions, with clear skills and availability.
- Benefit: Faster recruitment, reduced risk, compliance handled, recognition for supporting WIL.

Institution Perspective

- Pain: Students scattered across the internet, delayed placements, graduation bottlenecks, compliance risks.
- Need: A system that centralizes WIL opportunities, verifies eligibility, and tracks placements without adding heavy admin.
- Benefit: Improved graduation rates, reduced risk, streamlined reporting, stronger industry partnerships.
